DRINKS MENU

The Iconic Red Mill found in the original Farsons brewery built in Mriehel in 1950 was manufactured in Bristol, UK. The Mill was in operation until March 2013. This incredible industrial heritage machine served Farsons products for over 60 years - The Red Mill is visible at the main entrance of The Chapels at level 3.

Adjacent to the 'Red Mill' is our brand new Kasperry Microbrewery installed in 2023 where all our unique craft brews are brewed by our Master Brewer and served exclusively at The Chapels. If visiting us during the day at times you can also witness the brewing process in action.

Why are we called The Chapels? - The 2 Rooms (Chapel 1 & 2) were designed with a chapel format roof where large pools of freshly brewed beer used to cool down in shallow open copper vessels. The roofs were designed this way to capture the condensation that would trickle down the walls into catchment channels to prevent water droplets from dripping back into the vessels. It is because of their chapel-like shape these twin rooms soon came to be affectionately known by Farsons workers as "il-Kappelli" (The Chapels)
